

Girls thrive at Kids' Lit Quiz

On Wednesday 8 May, eight passionate readers from Meriden participated in the annual Kids' Lit Quiz. Divided into two teams of four, the girls collaboratively answered questions in ten categories, including elves, hospitals, baddies and intriguingly, cannibalism! Our girls showed strengths in classic literature, historical fiction, Australian literature, and myths and legends. Each Meriden team won one category, which meant the girls were able to choose a novel to keep from the selection available.

A highlight of the day was the presence of Australian author, Nat Amore, who was the compere for the day.

With her enthusiasm and deep literary knowledge, Nat kept the students on their toes, weaving together anecdotes, trivia and humour. All girls enjoyed the opportunity to challenge themselves in the sport of reading.

Mrs Cath Evans

Dean of Academic Care – Junior School

Happy young Meriden readers