

Year 12 Business Studies learn in the field

The new Year 12 Business Studies class travelled to Ettason to see real-world business in action just a few suburbs away from school. Medha Aiyer shared her experience of the day on behalf of the class.

Our Year 12 Business Studies class was thrilled to visit Ettason PTY Ltd, a global leader in food distribution. From the moment we left Meriden in the morning, excitement was high as we anticipated seeing how a successful business operates in the real world.

When we arrived, we were warmly welcomed by staff, including Ettason's Operations Manager and the warehouse team. They took us on a fascinating tour of the warehouse, where we got to see the intricate processes involved in inventory management and logistics. One of the highlights of the day was stepping into their -18°C freezer, packed with ice cream and frozen goods. It was freezing but a cool way to see how they maintain quality control (pun intended).

The visit wrapped up with a Q and A session, and we had the chance to ask questions about Ettason's operations strategies and supply chain management. Their staff answered with so much detail and enthusiasm that it really brought to life the concepts we've been learning in class.

As we headed back to school, we were surprised with goodie bags from Ettason filled with snacks, stickers, and even a wireless phone charger. It was such a thoughtful and generous way to end an incredible day.

This excursion was more than just a fun trip; it was an eye-opening experience that helped us connect what we've learned in Business Studies to the real world. I'm confident the insights we gained will be invaluable as we prepare for our exams and think about our futures in the business world.
